Woman Robber Found Guilty by Denver Jury

Denver, Colo., Nov. 22.—Miss Eva Lewis, 24 years old, alleged member of the band of automobile bandits and train robbers who terrorized Denver and Colorado Springs September 13, when two policemen were killed and four wounded, was found guilty by a jury in district court here tonight of highway robbery.

Miss Lewis was accused of participating with Roy Sheriff, now in prison in Kansas, and George Eudaley, alias Ray Dale, in the robbery of W. Dr. Otter of Chicago, and Miss Mildred W. Gates of Dallas, Texas. The bandits commandeered Miss Gates' automobile and after driving her and Mr. Otter twenty miles into the country left them marooned on the prairie at midnight.

Miss Lewis based her defense on the plea that she was an unwilling participant in the affair through her fear of Sheriff and Eudaley.

WEEKLY GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Sharp new advances, based largely on reports of food scarcity in Europe have taken place this week in the value of corn despite an expected enlargement of domestic rural shipments and notwithstanding lowered quotations at Paris and London. Compared with a week ago, corn prices this morning were 4 cents to 6 cents higher, and oats up 1 1/2 cents @ 2 1/2 cents. At the same time lard was off 55 to 75c but pork and ribs showed gains of 10 to 82c.

Especially during the first part of the week, interest of corn traders centered on the assumption of large food supplies to avert transatlantic starvation, London advises that arrangements were being made to dispatch a number of German vessels to the United States were responsible for much of the fever to purchase, and so too were United States preparations to send large amounts of foodstuffs to Austria, as well as the departure of five big ships from America for the Netherlands. Later in the week, however, bearish news predominated, including word of liberal Argentine shipments. Accordingly, extreme advances were not maintained.

Oats strengthened with corn, but upturns brought out hedging. Provisions were dull and irregular, mainly influenced by varying action of cereals and hogs.

It is as hard for a woman to keep money as it is for her to keep a secret.

GREAT POWER IDEA CANNOT BE TOLERATED

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The "Great Power Idea" as represented by foreign offices, must be done away with if the proposed league of nations is to be a success. H. G. Wells, the novelist and publicist, told a large audience at the American officers' club.

A league of nations, he said, was in accord with human nature and the spirit of nationality, and it was not opposed even to what Americans would call the "king business." But the Great Power idea would have to be exercised if mankind was not to go down in bloodshed and ruin.

The great power idea, he explained, was that each state was in conflict with all other states, and it absolutely opposed the idea of the common welfare of man.

"It was only a little more active in Berlin," he asserted, "than in the other capitals of Europe. Every foreign office, war office and admiralty has been organized to carry out the great power dreams."

"Foreign offices are too secretive and advantage-seeking instruments and too antiquated for the difficult task of dealing fairly with all other nations under a league of nations."

"The United States is in a different position. It is a republic with a president capable of speaking plainly to the peoples of the earth in a manner which is enough to produce an epidemic of epilepsy in European foreign offices."

A league of nations would have to substitute, he said, some sort of central control in which diplomacy would have to be pooled and represent the whole of mankind. If this was left to the present foreign offices to arrange, he contended, it would be asking them to arrange for their own extinction.

"I have always been an advocate," he added, "of complete victory. But something more than Germany is the matter with Europe at the present time. Unless the great power system embodied in present-day foreign offices, pursuing secret policies, is destroyed, this war will not have been worth while."

WANTS RAILROADS IN PRIVATE HANDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The methods employed by the railroad administration up to this time may be contended to have been necessary for the purpose of the war, Mr. Warfield said, but what is done from now on must be taken as indicating the railroad policy of the administration. He added:

"Is it proposed to carry out the intention of congress, or is it intended to use the railroads for laying the foundation for permanent government control and operation, under such plans as the present railroad administration may desire and as the forerunner of government ownership."

"Congress made no provision in the act for any such use of them but, on the contrary, it specifically provides for their return."

The federal control act relative to railroads provides not only for their operation by the government during the period of the war but for their return within "a reasonable time thereafter with the maximum fixed at twenty-one months."

Luther M. Walling, assistant director of public service railroad administration, is one of the attorneys engaged, it was announced, and the others include John G. Milburn of New York; John H. Miller, former corporation counsel of Chicago; Hugh L. Bond, Jr., of Baltimore and Foreney Johnstone of Birmingham, Ala.

SEATTLE, Nov. 22.—Six women were on a jury which today found Alvin Adams, twenty years old soldier, drafted from Kansas City, guilty of murdering M. R. Raymer, an automobile driver near Redmond, Wash., last June.

Adams said he hired Raymer to take him to Redmond, where he could steal a ride aboard a railroad train to his home. When Raymer told him his bill was $7, Adams said he became frightened, having no money, so killed the driver and drove the car to Portland.

BELGIANS EXPRESS BITTER HATRED FOR GERMAN "SWINE"

BRUGES, Nov. 22. (By the Associated Press).—The civil population of Bruges is much more bitter toward the Germans than the soldiers who have fought them for more than four years. Terms of bitter hate and a demand of revenge come from the civilians alone; the soldiers grin soberly.

The correspondent entered a cigar store where an old lady sold him a villainous cheroot, a relic of German occupation. She launched into a violent denunciation of the invaders.

"The war must not end like this," she declared. "We must go into Germany; we must make them suffer and expiate their crimes." On the day of departure she said, the Germans had robbed her store of $500 worth of the best cigars and cigarettes. On the Grand Place, in the shadow of the famous Belfry, an angry citizen was declaiming against the invaders.

"The pigs! The swine!" he shouted. "Shall they escape punishment? Will they not suffer any of the hardships they inflicted upon us? Shall they not salute our officers while their soldiers are pushed into the gutter as our soldiers pass on the sidewalk? It is inconceivable their women are to be spared the humiliation of begging for passports as ours had to do."

This citizen was a hotel-keeper from whom the Germans had requisitioned 27,000 bottles of wine from the hotel cellars, according to the statement of one of his auditors.

SCHOOL SIX DAYS WEEK.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 23.—While definite plans are not announced, it is thought the schools of Montana will be conducted six days each week, after general resumption, in order to make up time lost through the influenza epidemic.

It is held by some that this plan would be better than running late into the summer especially as the labor of the older boys is needed on the farms and elsewhere.

Moreover, summer sessions would entail additional expense in salaries of teachers.

Germans Salute Americans From War Prison Camps

HEADQUARTERS OF THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY, Nov. 22. (By the Associated Press).—Sergeant Robert Faucett of Virginia, Minn., and Private John Kristenson of New York City, have reached here after two months imprisonment at Colmar. They were discharged from the German prison on November 12 and told to make their own way to the frontier.

They were the only two American prisoners held at Colmar, where they were used in concrete dugout construction.

Both relate a story of most scanty food and stern, but not brutal treatment. They state that their captors took away their underwear, socks and shirts, leaving them only their uniforms and shoes. The men walked three days before crossing the frontier. On the way they met thousands of returning German troops who gave the Americans half the roadway, all the officers saluting them.

Faucett says that the revolution at Colmar occurred on November 10, the revolutionists ordering the German officers to remove their insignia and all the soldiers and officers to wear the black and red badge of revolution inscribed:

"We are on the way home."

The revolutionists released all the prisoners, but there was no general disorder.

Illinois Team Meets Chicago U. On "Grid" Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Interest in football hereabouts centers in the game at Stagg Field today between University of Illinois eleven and University of Chicago team. Although workmen have put the gridiron in as good condition as possible following the snow of yesterday and the freeze of last night, it was slippery in spots and considered poor footing for the players. Maroon hopes brightened with the return from a training camp of Reber, the big center. Among the experts, however, Illinois was considered to have the better chance of winning.

Having shown more consistent form throughout the season than Stagg's team, should the down state eleven win they will claim the western conference championship.

Other "big ten" teams that will play together are Northwestern at Iowa; and Wisconsin at Ohio state, while conference teams that will play out-landers are Michigan against Michigan Agassins at the former's grounds, Minnesota against Chicago naval reserves at Minneapolis and Purdue
